Ian Day
reveals a
boilie trick
for fooling
wary carp

THE BROKEN TANDEM BOILIE SET-UP.

Ever thought about fishing a whole boilie together with a broken boilie on the hair? It really works well because the flavours leak out of the broken boilie quickly, due to the exposure of the inside and also the increased surface area. It also fools wary carp that are suspicious of round baits.

One big advantage is that because you are still fishing a whole solid boilie on the hair, if silver fish attack and remove the broken one you still have a bait in place waiting for a carp. This presentation can prove very effective on waters that have a large head of small silver fish especially when fished over crushed or broken boilies, as it has the same broken up look as the free offerings.
